

Allies Spring Trap On Reds In Korea; Kumsong Doomed

(By The Associated Press)
U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea—(AP)—Allied infantrymen drove to within rifle range of Kumsong on the central front today.
Chinese defenders retreated slowly before the advancing U. S. 24th Division and the South Korean Sixth Division.
The Allies gained 1,500 to 2,000 yards in the fifth day of their drive toward the Reds' central Korean bastion.
The Reds were described officially as "slowly withdrawing."
Whether this was general along the entire 22-mile central sector remained to be seen. It was still possible for the Reds to make a stand south of Kumsong.
"We're going in and clean them out," said Lt. Col. Albert L. Thornton of Birmingham, Ala.
Forty Hills Taken
U. S. troops and Colombian infantrymen began the assault. Artillery covered them from newly captured flanking hills.
More than 40 hills have been captured in the five-day advance on Kumsong. Three United Nations divisions have advanced seven miles along a 22-mile front. Allied artillery moved up to strategic peaks where it could blast Kumsong, the main Communist bastion on the central front.
To the east, the Republic of Korea (ROK) Eighth division drove against 2,000 to 3,000-foot ridges in an effort to keep pace with the central push.
In the west the American First cavalry division again hit the tough Chinese defense line northwest of Yonchon. Every yard taken was won with hand grenades and bayonets.
Railroads Bombed
U. S. Sabre jets paraded in MIG alley for 25 minutes Wednesday morning in full view of Red jet bases at Antung, Manchuria. But Red jets did not challenge the Sabre pilots, who on Tuesday shot down nine Russian-type MIG 15s and damaged five.
More than 150 U. N. fighter-bombers attacked North Korean railways. Seventeen Communist trains were attacked by night raiders in intensified round-the-clock smashes on rail lines.
Far East Air Forces announced 335 U. N. planes have been shot down by ground fire or in combat during the Korean war. Allied pilots reported shooting down 241 Red planes, probably destroying 89 and damaging 264—a total of 594.

Taft Boom Too Early, Ike Backers Believe

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft's non-surprise announcement that he wants the 1952 Republican presidential nomination drew a "too early" reaction today from backers of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.
But there also was a feeling in the Ike-for-president camp that the general should announce his availability soon—provided he an-

Raids Planned On Gold Coast

BILLOXI, Miss. — (AP)—Reports cropped up today the federal government planned to throw its weight behind an anti-gambling drive along Mississippi's famed "gold coast."

Within the past few days federal agents have been investigating gambling activities with particular reference to participation by service men.

A Baptist minister has charged that some 1,500 slot machines in the Biloxi area form a gambling trap for the 30,000 Keesler Air Force base personnel and their $4,000,000 monthly payroll.
The Rev. G. C. Hodge, pastor of the First Baptist church and a member of the Biloxi Protestant Ministers' Association, said the slots fleece military personnel and others of more than $6,000,000 annually.

Previous efforts by the Biloxi Ministerial Association to halt gambling along the coast have met bitter opposition from some businessmen.

One Biloxi resident remarked ruefully:
"If we don't have slot machines, they'll be referring to this section as the 'Ghost Coast' instead of the 'Gold Coast.'"

Escanaba Boat Picks Up Body In Lake; No Clue

Discovery of a man's body floating in Green bay about 12 miles south of Escanaba today puzzled authorities who sought some clue to his identity.

Pliers and a screw driver in the man's hip pocket indicated the possibility that he was a mechanic.

There is no report of a person missing in this area, according to officers. The body is believed to have been in the water at least three or four weeks.

Recovered by Fisherman

The body is at the Anderson funeral home where Coroner Otto S. Hult, state police and sheriff's officers will make a further examination this afternoon in the search for identification.

Carl Olson, Escanaba commercial fisherman, discovered the floating body about 8:30 a. m. today while his boat was heading to fishing grounds to set nets.

Sheriff William E. Miron said Olson found the body about 4½ miles southeast of Misery Bay, about 12 miles south of Escanaba. The body was brought to Misery Bay by the crew of the fishing tug.

About 40 Years Old

Officers received word of the discovery about 9 a. m. and the coroner, state police and the sheriff went to Misery Bay, where the body was placed in an ambulance and taken to Escanaba.

The man was about 40 years old, five feet 10 inches tall, wore a brown leather jacket with a fur collar, blue trousers, brown belt and brown oxfords. The body was partially decomposed.

Only clue to identification so far observed by the officers were the mechanic's tools in the hip pocket.

Officers said strong southerly winds prevailing for the past several days may have carried the body from the southern section of Green Bay. The wind shift to the north occurred within the past 24 hours and authorities doubted the body came from Little Bay de Noc.

Yeast And Gin King Is Suicide

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — (AP)—Max C. Fleischmann, 74, one-time head of a yeast and gin empire, killed himself with a pistol late yesterday.

Doctors had told him he had an incurable, malignant disease.

Julian Bergen, the multimillionaire's confidential secretary, gave the story of the death. He said Fleischmann came here a month ago from his home in Nevada for an operation which disclosed the malignancy.

Coroner John Ross said Fleischmann shot himself through the mouth and died instantly.

The tragedy occurred at the Fleischmann home near Carpinteria, Calif. The attending physician, Dr. Irving Willis, had just summoned Nurse Della Laviene into the hall outside Fleischmann's room when they heard the shot.

Fleischmann came to Santa Barbara in 1930, a year after selling his yeast factories to the J. P. Morgan Banking house for about $20 million worth of stock in Standard Brands.

Five years later he built one of the most impressive residences in Nevada on the shores of Lake Tahoe.

Ionian Reformatory Trustees Beat Up Guard And Escape

IONIA, Mich. — (AP)—Two Ionian Reformatory trustees who escaped after brutally beating their work crew guard were hunted today in the low hills of Ionia and Kent counties.

The two are James Edward Nash, 20, and Marvin D. Rogers, 18. State police joined Ionia and Kent county sheriff's officers in the search.

Officers said the manhunt was one of the largest in this area in recent years.

Nash and Rogers were with a crew sent out to pick up green lumber for potato crates. Another prisoner, Harry Hartwell, 21, was in the group.

The guard, Joseph Wells, 60, a reformatory blacksmith, said that Nash and Rogers attacked him suddenly with a cant hook. Hartwell, the guard said, tried to help him, but couldn't do much.

Wells suffered a broken arm and bad cuts on the head. He was taken to the reformatory hospital. The two escapees took his wallet and fled down an adjoining road.

Railroad Retirement Increase Approved

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The House passed yesterday a bill to boost railroad retirements an estimated 15 per cent. The Senate has passed a similar measure. The bill now goes back to the Senate.

Alger reported that a check of 19 per cent of the signatures in 12 cities showed 37.5 per cent invalid.

This ratio was applied to the 175,299 signatures at rally filed with Alger, he said, it would result in 90,849 valid signatures.

This would be 3,076 short of the 93,970 necessary to certify the petitions.

The check of all signatures will be conducted by county clerks, who will compare them to registration lists to verify their genuineness and to certify that signers and circulators are registered electors.

Dewey Says U. S. Propaganda Aids Russians In Asia

HARTFORD, Conn. — (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey says United States information services have played into Russian hands in the struggle for Asia.

America must quit "trying to make the rest of the world over into our own image," he adds, because our government is not beyond criticism and others "do not want to copy us."

Not Beyond Reproach

The New York governor, addressing a Connecticut Bar Association banquet last night, called for a shift in American propaganda towards championing "Asia for the Asians—not for the Russians." His remarks about his recent 40,000-mile Far Eastern tour were broadcast nationally by the American Broadcasting Company.

While Asian governments "are not the best of all governments," Dewey said, "I venture the suggestion that there is nobody within the sound of my voice who is willing to suggest that we in America have the most honest, the most competent and the best of all possible governments."

There was laughter and applause at this comment, and then Dewey departed from his prepared text to suggest smilingly that New York and Connecticut have the best governments.

"In Washington, I have my doubts," he added.

These sallies were the closest Dewey came to a partisan attack in a speech unusually free of politics.

"Let's start winning back the friends we have lost for the cause of freedom," Dewey said. He continued:

In Charge of Bunglers

"In the past, where our information services were not actually

Weather Delays Atomic Exercise

By BILL BECKER

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — (AP)—A hint that construction problems, as well as the weather, might be a factor delaying the atomic testing of troops met today with "no comment" from atomic energy commission officials.

"Exercise Desert Rock"—the joint AEC and Army test—is expected to get underway this week. But with more haziness and low clouds forecast for Las Vegas this morning, the AEC again saw no chance of beginning the series of blasts today.

Test Manager Carroll L. Tyler admitted that "construction has not been moving as rapidly as we had hoped for, perhaps," but he declined to say whether construction vital to the test was involved.

Nearly 1,000 scientific workers are on hand for the test, and 5,000 soldiers are ready at nearby Camp Desert Rock. Only 1,000 of the troops will be actively engaged in the first simulated atomic battle-ground, about 75 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

Eisenhower Cruiser Lurches In Big Gale; Fleet Show Held Up

ABOARD FLAGSHIP DES MOINES OFF SARDINIA—(AP)—A gale that whipped up spray 100 feet high forced the sixth fleet again today to call off maneuvers planned for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The storm turned the general's voyage into a roller coaster ride. This 17,000-ton heavy cruiser lurched in 32 degree rolls like a rowboat in a squall.

Visibility was zero. Ferocious swells were whipped by wind gusts up to 62 miles an hour. Eisenhower holed up in his cabin as Vice Admiral Matthias Gardner ordered the fleet temporarily to suspend maneuvers.

Reds Use Old Tricks To Delay Korea Truce

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP)—The Allies declared today the Communists "are up to their old tricks of delaying" renewal of Korean truce talks.

"The Reds intend to make the going as sticky as possible," Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters said in a Tokyo release.

The statement was issued a few hours after Ridgway's headquarters reported United Nations and Communist liaison officers had made "considerable progress" toward preparing for new armistice negotiations.

Liaison officers met twice Wednesday in Panmunjom within sight of Allied shell explosions on a hillside in northern land. A cloud of black smoke and dust covered the hill a few miles north of Panmunjom.

Liaison officers made "additional progress, however slight," U. N. truce headquarters here said in a release.

Shortly after liaison officers adjourned vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, head of the U. N. truce delegation, flew back to Munsan from Tokyo.

There was no indication whether Joy brought back new instructions from Ridgway, with whom he conferred in Tokyo.

Liaison officers adjourned their day's sessions at Panmunjom after arguing over the size of the neutral zones to be set up for armistice negotiations.

A statement from Ridgway's headquarters described as "absurd" a Red proposal to create a neutral zone of 175 square miles embracing Munsan, Panmunjom and Kaesong. The Allies want a 20 square mile zone.

You Can't Negotiate With Communists, MacArthur Declares

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur declared today "you cannot profitably negotiate with Communists" and he called for the use of greater military power in the Korean war.

In a ringing attack on the administration's military policy, the ousted five-star General told the American Legion convention:

"We negotiate and negotiate and negotiate, never seeming to learn that you cannot profitably negotiate with Communists any more than you can with any other type of malefactor in civilized society. "The only persuasion that will move them is the resistance to their abusive pressure by adequate counter-pressure."

The General did not call for a break-off in the Kaesong truce talks, but he left it clear he puts no faith in them and would open all-out war against the Reds in the Far East as the best way to get an agreement.

There had been some speculation that MacArthur would mention the presidential candidacy of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio. But the General made no mention of Taft.

Other highlights of the MacArthur address included:

1. A charge that he (MacArthur) had "unquestionably wrecked" a secret plan to let Formosa fall to the Communists and permit Red China to enter the United Nations.

2. A charge that there has been a "startling and dangerous shift" in basic U. S. military policy which forces the armed forces to "soften our blows and send men into battle with neither promise nor hope of victory."

Hunting Season Toll: 4 Dead, 37 Wounded

(By The Associated Press)
Casualties in Michigan's new hunting season rose today to four dead and 37 wounded.

Three of the victims have been killed by gunfire. One drowned. Latest victim was Archie Stevens, 15, of Sears, Mich., in Oscoda county. The youth was killed by the accidental discharge of his shotgun as he drove a tractor on the Elmer McLachlan farm near Evart.

He was found dead, shot in the stomach, last evening. State police said young Stevens apparently was carrying the gun with him on the lookout for game while he did his farm chores.

Schedule Upset For Adjourning Of Lawmakers

Treasury May Lose Revenue Billions

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
WASHINGTON — (AP)—The stinging, unexpected rejection of a $5,732,000,000 tax increase by the House set the administration groping today for a solution to a potentially serious national budget problem.

Leaders' plans to adjourn Congress Saturday until the new year were threatened by yesterday's development.

Up To Senate

The next move is up to the Senate, which now can say whether or not there will be a tax increase this year. If it doesn't accede to the House request for a new conference to try to work out differences, there'll be no tax bill. That might—unless the tax hike finally approved were made retroactive—deprive the treasury of something like half a billion dollars a month is increased revenues.

In advance of a meeting of the Senate Finance committee, set for 10 a. m. (EST), there were strong indications another effort would be made to reach an agreement. The puzzle was: What kind of a tax boost would be acceptable to the House—and the Senate.

White House Astounded

The bill under preparation nearly nine months was tossed aside summarily by the House yesterday in a half-hour rollcall, with administration leaders hardly more astounded by the outcome than the group which put across the 203 to 157 coup.

On the winning side were 139 Republicans and 64 Democrats. The minority which supported the bill included 122 Democrats, 23 Republicans and one Independent.

This was not the usual coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats which has become fa-

St. Anne's Church Contract Awarded

Erling Arntzen of Escanaba has been awarded the contract for the construction of the basement for the new St. Anne's Catholic church, Rev. Fr. Clifford Nadeau announced today.

Excavation work will start immediately on a 10-acre tract of land acquired by St. Anne's parish on the northeast corner of Eighth avenue south and 23rd street.

The basement project is scheduled for completion late this fall. Erection of the church will begin early in the spring.

Somerville Is Architect

The new church, 46 by 132 feet, will be constructed of brick. John Somerville, Green Bay architect, who was associated some years ago with the architectural firm that designed the St. Joseph's church and auditorium here, drafted the plans for the new St. Anne's church.

A brief ground breaking ceremony was held at the site Sunday afternoon.

The new church will replace the edifice, which was located on South Eighth street and which was destroyed by fire in July, 1947.

Parish Began In 1887

French Canadian Catholics of Escanaba, with the sanction of the Ordinary of the Marquette diocese, purchased in 1887 a piece of property from Daniel Wells and others on Lot 12 of Block 38 of the original plat of Escanaba.

Construction of the church was begun on this lot and later the rectory was built on Lot 13. When the church building was almost finished, the Rev. Fr. Joseph Elie Martel was appointed pastor on Aug. 25, 1888. The church was dedicated in honor of St. Anne by the late Bishop John Vertin in September of the same year.

St. Anne's school was built on South Eighth street in 1891. The Sisters' convent was erected a few years later.

Pasture Supplies Low Cost Feed Materials

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Pasture supplies dairy feed at about half the cost of hay and silage and one-fourth the cost of grain, according to agricultural specialists at Ohio State University. For these reasons, farmers are being advised to provide pasture all season.

Not only are pasture costs low, the experts state, but cows generally produce more when they get good grazing. Young pasture plants, they say, such as alfalfa-ladino-grass meadow, are high in

Hoover Study Advises Abolition Of Michigan Welfare Commission

LANSING — (AP) — A "Little Hoover" committee task force today had a recommendation on record for the abolition of the State Social Welfare commission.

Completing a months-long survey of the Social Welfare department, the task force suggested instead that the department be run by a director.

If the governor is given a four-year term, the task force report suggested the governor appoint the director. If not, he should be appointed by a six-member "Welfare Council" which would be a policy-making body, the report said.

The report was filed with the legislative committee on governmental reorganization. The task force was headed by Eldon W. Sneeringer of the Citizens Research Council of Michigan. He was assisted by welfare specialists from other states.

The report urged splitting the department into two divisions—one dealing with administrative services and the other with social services.

Separate from these divisions would be an audit and county finance section to keep closer tabs on disbursement of relief and assistance.

It was recommended that the probate courts be relieved of the responsibility for supervising and administering its own orders for

Flambeau Archery Co., Newest Industry Here

The Flambeau Archery company is Escanaba's newest manufacturing industry, producing steel archery bows and arrows for sportsmen.

Business is good, too, the company officers report, although a major worry at the moment is the securing of an adequate supply of spring steel, properly tempered, for the bow shafts.

Founder Retires

The Flambeau archery equipment is well known in the trade, although the business enterprise is new in Escanaba. Mr. and Mrs. Lyle LeCaptain and Mr. and Mrs. Evans Lindley of Escanaba recently purchased the company name and manufacturing facilities from Art Alden, Ladysmith, Wis., who operated the business for about 10 years. At the age of 78 years, Mr. Alden has retired.

The Flambeau Chief model is the newest wrinkle in modern archery, featuring a center shot bow designed to shoot the arrow through the handle. The device enables the archer to sight his target. Manufacturers contend the bow is the biggest advance in archery since native American Indians used the bow as their major weapon.

The company also produces conventional type bow, without the center shot. Both models are produced in sizes varying from 25 pounds to 70 pound "pull". The center shot model uses a handle manufactured from cast aluminum. Bow strings are made of

Nahma Repair Work Starts

American Playground Employs 40 Men

NAHMA, Mich. — About forty men are now employed by the American Playground Device company in the rehabilitation of the sawmill town purchased by the Anderson, Ind., manufacturing concern.

The crew is dismantling the 40-room boarding house, piling timbers salvaged from the tramways, and hauling stones and timbers for the repairing of the docks damaged by the September storm.

In addition, some workers are employed brushing out the shore of Big Bay de Noc between the town and the golf course. Dock timbers and other driftwood, which was scattered all over the beach in the recent storm, also are being removed from the area.

The Bay de Noquet company, which ran the sawmill at Nahma for 70 years, will continue to operate the store, power plant and Nahma & Northern railway until the end of this year.

Factory and Resort

Warren P. Miller, president of the American Playground Device company, said recently that the planing mill and other buildings would be utilized for the manufacture of park, pool, beach and playground equipment at first. Production is not expected to begin until early spring. Some new industrial plant construction is also contemplated.

The new owner also plans to eventually develop Nahma as a resort. Establishment of a model playground, for enjoyment by Nahma children and for the display of the American products, is tentatively planned in the area near the clubhouse.

Pictures in Life

This week's issue of Life magazine, which will appear on the newsstands Friday morning, will carry four pages of pictures taken by Tom McAvoy, staff photographer of Detroit, who has been employed by Life the past 16 years. Lead picture in the story occupies a full page and is devoted to a view of Nahma's main street with a N&N railway locomotive in the foreground. Other pictures include an aerial view of the town, and various shots of Charles E. Good, president of the Bay de Noquet company, and President Miller of American Playground taken at the golf course, bathing beach, fishing stream, Lions club party and lumberjacks log sawing contest.

The pageant with a cast of 750 was viewed by 7,000 spectators at Rice Field. Director of the choir of 400 voices and the Elkhart municipal band was H. Lee Hope, band director of the University of Notre Dame. A featured performer was Herb Shriner, nationally known radio, television and stage artist, and the principal speaker was John J. Brinkworth, vice president of the New York Central.

Hunters Cautioned About Water Supply

LANSING — (AP) — The state health department today had several words of caution for hunters.

Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of the division of disease control, said that overtaxing the heart is a much greater danger than gunfire, heavy traffic or getting lost.

Hunters were also cautioned to choose clean eating places and to order foods which must be freshly prepared. Dr. Leeder said they can be sure the water supply is safe if it carries a department approved sign.

Camp supplies of water can be made safe by adding three drops of laundry bleach to each gallon of water and letting it stand half an hour.

The doctor urged hunters never to drink from streams.

State Highways Will Suffer If Gas Tax Increase Is Nullified

SECRETARY OF STATE Fred M. Alger, Jr., who is chairman of the state board of canvassers, has recommended that the board make a thorough check of every name on the petitions for a referendum on the state gasoline tax increase.

That Alger's recommendation is a proper one is indicated by the fact that spot checks conducted by Alger revealed that about 40% of the signatures on the petitions are invalid.

A total of 165,000 signatures were filled on the referendum request and only 93,970 are required to force a vote in November, 1952 on the gasoline tax question. Thus, it is possible to have 44% invalid signatures and still have sufficient valid signatures to require an election. However, because of the importance of the situation, it should be certain how many valid signature the petitions contain.

The spot checks revealed that many persons signed the petitions who were not registered voters in the cities where the petitions were circulated. All of these signatures are, of course, invalid.

If the election is required as a result of the petitions, there will be considerable loss in revenue for highway purposes. The tax increase of one and a half cents enacted by the state legislature will be suspended for an entire year pending the results of the election, according to legal experts. Millions of dollars needed for highways in the state, the townships and cities will not be available and, of course, the road system will suffer thereby.

The political shenanigans behind the referendum petitions are disheartening. Roads are wearing out faster than they are being replaced. Good roads are more urgent now than ever before because of the rearmament program. As in World

Chants Of German Unity Turn Sour

RUSSIA'S East German puppets chant the unity theme as a siren song for their Western German brethren almost as steadily as Moscow sings of "peace." In both instances, the tones are sweet but false.

The Soviet Union well knows how powerful a unity appeal can be to the Germans. Beyond all doubt, many of them live for the day when their country may once again be welded together.

Hence it was perfectly natural for the Kremlin to make a redoubled unity campaign the main element in its new drive to halt the closer integration of Western Germany with the North Atlantic Treaty nations.

The efforts to bring the Bonn government deeper into the Western fold have two major aspects: (1) The creation of German armed units to be incorporated into the general European defense army, and (2) the drafting of a "peace contract" giving Bonn as much independence politically as is possible in the light of the Russian threat to German security.

Though important obstacles still remain, both these programs are moving toward realization. If they are brought off successfully, Russia will have been dealt a real blow both politically and militarily. Moscow's full awareness of this explains its intense activity in Germany at this moment.

In the past Bonn officials have not been too adept at combating East German unity maneuvers. But at this crucial juncture Chancellor Konrad Adenauer met the Red tactic with one of his most statesmanlike gestures. He called the Communists' bluff with a series of unity proposals of his own.

Those proposals call for full and free German elections under international safeguards. He reasoned that if the Reds were sincere in their clamor for unity they would accept these eminently fair terms.

Put to the test, the East German Communists failed ignominiously. Premier Otto Grotewohl stalled on Adenauer's proposals, and tried to divert attention from them by offering political amnesty to 20,000 prisoners—as proof that freedom rules in the Russian zone. Later on, Grotewohl flubbed again.

This is a pretty significant commentary on the barrenness of Soviet policy in Germany. Challenged to make good on unity talk, they are caught flat. They can't agree to free elections because they would lose. By doing nothing about Adenauer's earnest offer, they expose completely the fraudulent character of their campaign.

One suspects that right now the Russians do not really know what to do about Germany—short of war. They may have to content themselves with hurling threats of force, of reprisal against all Western "collaborators," of strikes and sabotage.

An all-out campaign of obstruction and perhaps violence could plainly prove a serious barrier to Western liaison with Bonn. But it would destroy once and for all the illusion that Russia has honest, peaceful purposes in Germany.

For A Friend

By Gordon Martin

For a friend, I'll take the man who's just an unassuming guy, though he may have much of worldly goods and hold positions high. For a friend, I'll take the fellow who can give as well as take, and who likes to do a favor for another person's sake. For a friend, I'll take the chap who never brags so very much, but who always can be counted on whenever comes the clutch.

For a friend, I'll take the citizen who does his civic bit, and who fights for what he thinks is right and doesn't ever quit. For a friend, I'll take the man who isn't perfect in his ways, and admits his faults and modestly accepts another's praise. For a friend, I'll take the optimist whose hopes are for the best, and who doesn't face the future with his chin upon his chest.

For a friend, I'll take the man who, when he's walking every mile, has the time to stop and wonder at a youngster's shining smile. For a friend, I'll take the chap who sees the glory in the land, and who knows a rose has felt the touch of God's own loving hand. And when friends like these I call my own, my joy will never end, and I'll do my best to merit them when others I befriend.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The two old tyrants of the Senate, McKellar of Tennessee and McCarran of Nevada, tried to browbeat the nation's top secret out of Atomic Energy Chairman Gordon Dean the other day. It's none of their business, but they demanded to know this country's exact number of atomic bombs.

This is too precious a secret to be repeated around Congress, whose employees are not cleared for loyalty like other federal employees. It would be particularly dangerous for Senator McCarran to know, since a parade of ex-Communists is constantly streaming through his office. Though they have denounced their Communist ties and come to McCarran to confess, the FBI is frankly skeptical of some of them.

Nevertheless, McKellar and McCarran got the atomic energy chairman behind closed doors of the Senate appropriations committee and hounded him to tell the exact number of bombs in our atomic stockpile.

"If we are going into war, we ought to be ready, and we ought to know what we have," rasped Tennessee's McKellar. "You are asking for more money, and it is unusual to ask for more money just before the Congress adjourns. What I would like to know is what you have done with the money that we appropriated last year?"

"We have done a great deal of work, and we have expanded the atomic energy program," replied Chairman Dean. (This column has been advised that the exact atomic expansion should not be made public.)

"How much of your last year's appropriation went into bombs? How many bombs do you have?" demanded the Tennessee senator.

"A very substantial amount," parried Dean.

"That does not answer the question," exploded McKellar. "How much has gone into bombs?"

SECRET AMOUNTS OF URANIUM

"Let me say this," Chairman Dean tried to soothe the old man. "Everything in the way of fissionable material which is produced in our whole program goes into bombs. It is stored there, and if you want it out and later use it somewhere else, you can use it. But today it goes right into bombs."

"What is the process of deterioration?" broke in McCarran.

"There is no deterioration," Dean reported.

McCarran then changed the subject from the exact number of bombs to the exact number of carloads of uranium ore that goes into each bomb. Dean tried to evade the question, which is also top secret. But McCarran, who represents a western mining region, kept hammering until Dean finally gave him the secret figure.

Later McKellar got back to the number of bombs again.

"Now we made you trustees last year, and we appropriated all of this money to you. Sure you can tell us what you have done with it," persisted the aged Tennesseean.

"It has gone into bombs," repeated Dean. "That doesn't mean a thing," snapped McKellar. "You have got two bombs or you have got 1,000 or you have got six or 17, and we don't know what you have got, and we don't know whether you have got enough to fight a war or not."

"That raises this question, senator, that troubles me a little bit," Dean observed delicately, "and that is whether the committee actually wishes to have precise numbers of weapons."

SENATOR CORDON OBJECTS

"No, for heaven's sake, no!" blurted Oregon's conscientious Senator Guy Cordon.

"If you would trust an order of magnitude answer," Dean tried again to placate the grizzled Tennesseean, "may I say that we have a very substantial number of bombs that have been bought by the money that has been appropriated by this committee. It is not a small group; it is a very substantial number."

"What would be a substantial number in one man's eyes would be very different in another man's eyes," snorted McKellar. "You are asking us to furnish you all of these sums of money, and all we are asking you is what have you done with the last year's money we have given you."

Last year's money, as I tried to indicate, on plant and equipment," the atomic chairman started to explain.

"That doesn't mean a thing in the world to me," bellowed McKellar.

"I think you should answer the senator's question," chimed in McCarran eagerly.

"The gaseous diffusion plants and piles have been the large expansion," Dean began again.

"That doesn't give us any information," blurted McKellar.

But Dean held his ground and refused to divulge the priceless secret.

For Once Hollywood Played It Smart; Waited For Others To Pioneer Video

VIDEO AND JULIET: Olivia de Havilland was one Hollywood star who took the television plunge when she did a scene from "Romeo and Juliet" last Spring. A year from now should find the television screens crowded with Hollywood's biggest names.

Juliet last Spring. A year from now should find the television screens crowded with Hollywood's biggest names.

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — Hollywood's seven major motion picture studios, in a desperate "we're-fighting-for-our-lives" attitude, have banned the appearance of contract stars on both "live" and filmed television shows.

But, as far as TV is concerned, it doesn't mean a thing. With the exception of a dozen or so big names, there are few stars left on major studio payrolls. The accent in Hollywood today is on good stories, not high-salaried stars. For the first time in filmtown history, unknowns are really getting the breaks.

Why, then, aren't there more movie stars on television? They're on their way, and a year from now you'll be seeing most of them on your home TV screens.

They're shifting over to television just as fast as their agents can arrange the deals and to heck with the studio golden spoons which once fed them.

But they'll still be seen on film, just as they were in the theaters, only in half-hour serials, musicals and comedies, instead of full-length features.

They've just been waiting for the time when TV sponsors could afford quality TV film. Now that time has arrived. This adds up to good news for TV fans but bad news for New York's television pioneers.

The ladies in the low-cut gowns, the repetitive Broadway comedians, the dance teams and the tumblers, the puppets, the unknown Garbos and the cameramen who cut off all of their heads—they've all had their day.

And just so I won't be called biased because I'm a Hollywood columnist, I'll quote a big New York advertising agency boss who, for obvious reasons, must remain nameless. He told me in his Manhattan office a few days ago:

"As soon as possible we're hiring film players for all of our TV shows and we're going to Hollywood to put them on film. Audiences are as tired of New York vaudeville, interview and dramatic shows as I am. Television is going to Hollywood. It's going fast and it's going on film."

For once, the movie stars played it smart. For three years learned to stand, to crawl and to walk in New York. They watched Broadway performers strain through too — quickly rehearsed, they watched while television scenes on cramped sets.

They saw big name comedians look silly in amateurish skits. They smiled over stories of New York directors who didn't know camera angles and of electronics engineers who didn't know the value of a close-up or a medium shot or a long shot.

They watched and they waited and they smiled. They knew it had to happen. And then it happened.

Sponsors started screaming that their $30,000-a-week shows were awful because the leading man forgot his lines or the leading lady tripped or the cameraman missed half a dozen cues.

Television, in its quick growth, brought vaudeville back from the dead and killed it all over again. Dramatic shows were turned into comedies and comedies didn't get any laughs.

They turned the TV cameras on radio shows. And they wondered what happened to the ratings.

The cry went up: "It's gotta be on film. You can't edit a live show. And don't give me a radio show—TV is movies—not radio."

So now it's going on film, with movie players in front of the cameras and movie technical know-how behind the cameras and, just like radio did 20 years ago, television is moving westward to Hollywood.

Hollywood knew it would come all the time but it was New York's toy and the big stars weren't sticking out their high-priced necks to be ruined forever by an electronics engineer or a chorus boy turned TV director.

But now there's gold to be panned in those video channels and the bright boys and girls not under contract to the major film studios are moving into TV film.

A lot of radio stars thought that television was just a radio show with a camera out front. It won't work. Television isn't radio. Television isn't even television. Except for news and sports events, it's motion pictures pure and simple.

A radio star doesn't automatically become a TV star. TV, it's already been proven, can ruin a radio star. The movie professionals are taking over.

When they've invaded TV completely, movie theater owners and the seven major studios really will have to start worrying. Because that's when the entertainment on your TV screen at home will be as good as the entertainment on the screen of the movie theater around the corner.

A great nation which enters upon war and fails to see it through to victory must accept the full moral consequences of defeat.—General MacArthur

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

OBSERVING ONES—The past weekend brought to Northern Michigan a blessing of October's bright blue weather, and to woods and fields also it brought a large number of sportsmen.

Some city dwellers may think hunters are hardened killers, intent only on destruction. Actually the men and women who take to the woods with gun in hand are those who enjoy the sights and sounds of nature as well as a well-filled game bag.

Every woods trip brings its reward, although no legal game may have been encountered. Nature always presents a good show in any season, but in autumn the leaves turn hills into a parade of color and cover the ground with a carpet of richest hue.

GROWING UP — Those who say that nature is constant and unchanging are thinking other than of nature's expressive face.

Those who of necessity or by choice have contact with nature will tell you this. The farmer must battle to keep his lands cleared. Old farms with brush creeping in from fence rows reveal nature at work.

Railroad grades over which steam locomotives once hauled forest giants to the sawmill are now little more than narrowed game trails. Steel rails and ties are gone. The only visible "tracks" are those of deer.

Sportsmen returning to a well-remembered woods road after grouse find that in a few short years nature has restored it to brush and cover—good hiding for her wild children.

IN THE MAKING — The Upper Peninsula—except in its too-moist swamps—is a fertile forest land.

Nature, left to herself, has a way of restoring that which man has damaged. Slowly but surely the forests are coming back, aided by man's program of fire control.

Even if no tree planting was ever done, the forests would return by natural processes—and perhaps stronger and healthier than the trees that man is planting in his laudable desire to hasten the task.

For nature's evolution from barren to forest is a gradual soil-building process culminating in the big trees. Small brush, quick growth that dies to fall with the leaves and enrich the soil, is nature's way of preparing for its chief crop—vast forest stands whose grandeur was destroyed to help build a nation and whose return will help perpetuate it.

COLOR AND MOVEMENT — There is some compensation in second growth timber. The variety of tree species ranging from aspen to hard maple provides an equally pleasing variety of color when the leaves take on autumn tints.

Slender length of young trees bend gracefully before the wind, marsh grass turned golden by the frost undulate in dancing rhythm, and from thickets of alder and hazel small birds fly in colorful movement.

Blue jays sweep noisily through the hardwoods, demure chickadees with black collars and white ties make small talk among the birches, while overhead a wedge of geese marks a southern course.

GAME TRAILS—The woodsman finds fascination in reading the "signs" game leaves along the trail.

Here are the heart-shaped tracks of walking deer, the wide-spread prints of deer on the run; in the mud are the feathery marks of the rabbit's feet, and on the sandy ridge a partridge has made a dusty hollow.

There is excitement, too, in finding a place so far distant from the road that no footprint of man appears and the hunter stands alone—for a few brief minutes considering how little nature needs man, but how much man depends upon nature.

WORDS TO WATCH

Watch the word hindrance: it should have two syllables only. How the hith-hiking "er" ever inserted itself between the two, I do not know. But be sure to say: HIN-drins.

Maintenance is derived from the verb maintain; but there is no such word as "maintain-ance." Maintenance is syllabified; main-te-nance; and good usage requires that we say: MAIN-tins.

Catastrophe, "a great calamity; a disastrous end," is accented on the second syllable, thus: kuh-TASS-truh-fee. But in the adjective catastrophic, the accent shifts to the first and third syllables: KAT-uh-STROFF-iff.

Spokane (the Washington city) is not pronounced "spo-KANE," the last syllable rhyming with "main, gain."

The name Spokane is from the Indian tribal name Spokan, which means "children of the sun." How, when, or why the final "e" was added to the original Spokan, I have no knowledge; it certainly leads to our pronouncing troubles with the name. But it does not alter the pronunciation. Spokane is correctly pronounced: spo-KAN (KAN to rhyme with "man, can, fan").

There is no sanction at all for the second-syllable accent in the word discipline. I do not know who started this pompous and silly mislocution, but avoid it in the interest of better speech. DISS-i-plin is the only pronunciation recognized in Standard American.

Simple rules for the proper use of those consistently misused pronouns, That-Which-Who, are given in Frank Colby's leaflet, C-8. For a copy, send 10c in coin to Mrs. Frank Colby, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Water Project Is Speeded Up

Materials Arrive At Brisk Pace

Construction progress on the Escanaba water plant project has speeded up and if weather conditions remain satisfactory for two or three more weeks, it will be possible to continue construction throughout the winter months, City Manager A. V. Aronson reported.

Delay in securing essential materials slowed the project during the summer and early fall months. It was believed then that the project would not be sufficiently advanced before cold weather intervened to continue the project during the winter months.

The speedup, made possible by more rapid shipment of reinforcing steel, indicates that concrete work may be advanced so that the building will be enclosed before cold weather arrives. In that event, the piping work can be continued through the winter months, Aronson said.

If it is not necessary to close down the job because of weather conditions, the filtration plant will be completed by next fall and will be placed in operation before the winter of 1952-53.

Law Found To Curb Hot-Rods Equipped With Flame-Throwers

SAN JOSE, Calif.—(AP)—After two days of digging into law books, peace officers have come up with a law to curb teen-agers who were turning their "hot rods" into flame throwers.

The flame thrower conversion was being done by tapping the exhaust pipe, inserting a spark plug and connecting the plug to the auto's ignition system.

This exploded exhaust fumes, shooting tongues of flame from the tail pipe. When speeding, the flames sometimes would reach a length of 15 feet.

When the first such flaming chariot appeared on San Jose streets, police arrested the driver. Then they had to let him go because they could not find a local ordinance making flame throwing hot rods illegal.

But District Attorney N. J. Menard finally found the answer in a statute which declares: "It is a misdemeanor to throw burning substance or articles from an automobile."

Acheson Says U. S. A. Is Backing Britain's Suez Canal Stand

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today the United States supports the stand of the British in upholding their position in the Suez Canal area against Egyptian pressure.

Acheson also told a news conference that the United States government regards as "without validity" the action of the Egyptian defense treaty.

At the same time, the secretary appealed to Egypt to reconsider its quick rejection of the proposal by the big three western powers and Turkey for the creation of a Middle East command which would take over responsibility for defense of the canal zone and the strategic Middle East.

Postal Worker Raise Approved

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Senate House conferees sought agreement today on terms of a compromise bill to raise the pay of most government workers somewhere around $400,000,000 a year.

Benefiting would be hundreds of thousands of government employees in Washington and other areas. Not covered are postal workers and "blue collar" workers paid on an hourly basis.

The same conferees yesterday reached agreement on a bill to hand the 450,000 postal workers a $250,000,000 to $255,000,000 a year pay hike. The measure now awaits Senate action.

The conferees committee has before it a House-passed bill proposing a $446,000,000 a year boost in the pay of the non-postal workers, and a Senate bill which would limit the total to about $384,000,000 a year.

The postal pay bill on which they agreed upon yesterday would give most salaried postal workers a flat $400 a year increase in salaries, and hourly postal workers a boost of 20 cents an hour.

Salaried postal workers in the lower pay brackets would get an additional boost of approximately $200 a year.

Schedule Wrecked For Adjournment Of U. S. Lawmakers

miliar in recent years. The Democrats who opposed the bill are, in the main, representatives of northern and big-city districts. Most Southerners went along with the administration.

Boosts Poorly Balanced

The leaders were baffled by the factors which caused the upset. The volume of "no" votes swelled swiftly as the rollcall went along. Some of those who voted against the bill confessed later they hadn't anticipated the actual outcome.

Leading Democrats trying to analyze the vote speculated that a great many members simply oppose any tax increase at this time, and that others believe the boosts called for by the compromise bill were inequitable and poorly balanced.

Thus any new tax conference would face a difficult problem in resolving such conflicting interests. Rep. Mills (D-Ark.) one of the House conferees, remarked: "It would be difficult to write a bill that would satisfy a man who didn't want to vote for a tax bill."

Yesterday's action by the house did not kill the bill. It did set things back exactly to the stage reached weeks ago when the Senate returned the original $7,200,000,000 House increase. It revised that bill down to $5,400,000,000. Conference committee action upped this to $5,732,000,000, the figure voted on yesterday.

Pressure From CIO

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House ways and means committee moved immediately to ask the Senate for a new conference. The House agreed and the same seven conferees, headed by Doughton, were reappointed.

A letter from the CIO to all House members urging rejection of the compromise bill was said by some committee members to have had considerable influence in swinging doubtful votes. The CIO said the measure put entirely too heavy a burden on low income groups and let the wealthy off too lightly. The labor group recommended a full $10,000,000,000 in-

Britain And Egypt Rush More Troops To Suez Riot Zone

By FRED ZUSY

CARIO, Egypt—(AP)—Both Britain and Egypt rushed reinforcements to the riot-torn Suez Canal area today as the British commander pledged his troops would stand fast against Egyptian efforts to drive them out.

In London the foreign office announced fresh troops are being sent to bolster the British garrison along the canal, where at least seven persons were killed and scores injured yesterday when British forces fired on rioting and looting Egyptians.

The British commander of the Garrison, Lt. Gen. George Erskine, told his men in a broadcast last night "we are not going to be turned out, forced out or knocked out" of the canal area.

"We are not looking for trouble," he said, "but we shall deal with it quite firmly if we meet it."

Egypt's Premier Mustapha El Nahas Pasha in a press statement urged his people to remain calm. The rioting, he said, "could stand in the way of our national aspirations."

A report from the canal city of Ismailia said 200 Egyptian police were being dispatched by special train from Cairo to reinforce the 1,500 Egyptian police already there and that 300 others were being sent to Port Said. Yesterday's violence centered in these two cities.

Britain's garrison along the canal at present is estimated at 40,000 men, with 400 planes. It was not disclosed what British units were sent there, but several aircraft landed last night at Nicosia, on the Mediterranean isle of Cyprus, where the 16th Airborne Brigade of 4,000 men is stationed. Presumably the planes will carry the first groups of paratroopers today to the Suez zone less than 300 miles away.

There appeared to be no abating of the tension.

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass.—(AP)—A smear of yellow dye was found on the sea today 490 miles east of Cape Cod by a search plane seeking a missing stratosphere and her crew of 11.

Westover officers said the dye marker was sighted by Capt. Lewis Randolph of East Rutherford, N. J., flying a C-54 search plane, at 9:30 a. m. EST, and that it was consistent with dye carried in pneumatic rafts used by planes.

Capt. Randolph reported he did not see a raft.

The report added impetus to a search already speeded up by reported light flashes in the area last night.

West Virginia Convicts Riot

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va.—(AP)—An 18-hour revolt of 1,300 prisoners at the West Virginia state penitentiary ended without casualties at 9:45 a. m. (EST) today.

State Police Maj. R. W. Boyles suddenly appeared on the steps of the administration building leading into the two-acre exercise yard where the prisoners had milled all night.

He yelled: "I have a message for you."

"Get on the loud-speaker," called back some of the prisoners.

Warden Orel J. Skeen's voice came on the prison public-address system.

"If you men care to go in your cells," he said, "the doors are open And when you get in, we'll arrange to feed you. We can't feed you where you are."

There was a surge for the door. There were some scattered fights among the leaders: No, no, no. The main body of the cold and hungry convicts paid no attention to them.

Dewey Says U. S. Propaganda Aids Soviets In Asia

in the hands of leftwingers who tried to stab us in the back, they were in the hands of sincere bunglers who tried to sell America as a commodity and not as an ideal.

"They presented an America which was a glittering picture of how wealthy and comfortable life could be under freedom and Democracy * * *."

Asians were given pictures of "two-car garages, gas stoves, refrigerators and even green tile bathrooms" when their big worry was getting "rice and fish," the two-time GOP presidential nominee said.

Russians turned this kind of propaganda against us, Dewey said, to convince Asia that Americans "exploit the rest of the world and rob Asia for their own comfort."

"We have played the Russian game for them," he added. "I propose that we stop it and never again do it so long as we live."

Truman Censorship Order Inexcusable, Says State Auditor

LANSING — (AP)—"President Truman's recent censorship order x x x is inexcusable and indefensible," Auditor General John B. Martin, Jr., said yesterday.

Speaking before the East Side Commercial club, Martin said, "It hamstrings the freedom of the press in this country in a way which clearly suggests that the Truman administration is becoming so sensitive to the continued exposure of scandal that it seeks for desperate measures to clamp down on federal news sources."

Martin is a candidate for the Republican nomination as U. S. Senator.

Don't Neglect Cow's Salt Ration, Dairy Farmers Are Advised

Salt is important to dairy cows and they should get all they need, but it should not be force fed in large amounts, J. L. Heirman, county agricultural agent today advised dairymen.

Feeding trials indicate that the demand for calcium and phosphorus by dairy cows in heavy production is so large that free access to salt and steamed bone meal should be provided in addition to that in the grain ration.

The average dairy cow doesn't need much salt—only about an ounce a day but it is important that she gets that much. Self-feeding has proved the simplest way of giving cows their salt.

Charles Little, U. P. extension dairyman for Michigan State College, says that one percent by weight of the grain ration should be iodized salt. Another one percent by weight of the grain ration should be steamed bone meal.

Schoolboy Is Hunted For Killing Mother At Minneapolis, Minn.

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—Police of four midwest states today hunted a 16-year-old high school boy, sought in connection with the slaying of his mother yesterday.

The youth, Robert Farrington Pett, has been missing since the body of his mother, Mrs. Mary R. Pett, 51, was found on her bed. She had been stabbed, shot and beaten.

Authorities in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa were asked to aid in the search.

Police said Mrs. Pett had been stabbed 17 times with two butcher knives, both of which protruded from her body, beaten with a length of bamboo fishpole which broke off and shot with a .22 caliber rifle.

Pakistan Buries Prime Minister; Holy War Feared

KARACHI, Pakistan—(AP)—All Pakistan quieted to a shocked and mournful standstill today for the funeral of Liaquat Ali Khan, first prime minister of the four-year-old nation.

The leader of the Moslem country was shot to death at Rawalpindi, 30 miles from Rawalpindi, yesterday by an assassin who fired bullets into Liaquat's chest and head as he began a speech to the Moslem league.

Killer Torn Apart

The fanatic killer, Sher Akhtar, who wanted a holy war against India, was snatched by the audience and torn to pieces.

Liaquat was to be buried with full military honors in a grave next to that of Mohammed Ali Jinnah, Pakistan's founder and first governor general, the Pakistan radio said.

The heavy-set, 56-year-old national leader was defense minister as well as prime minister. Both his jobs were taken over today by the governor general, Sir Khwaja Nazimuddin, the radio said. There was no immediate announcement of a new governor general.

A quick funeral was arranged for Liaquat. Officials apparently feared a prolonged period of mourning might stir hatreds and result in widespread violence.

Controversies Hushed

Slaying of the placid, peace-seeking Liaquat came at a time when relations between his country and India were strained near the breaking point over their rival claims to the hills and rich valleys of Kashmir.

Liaquat and Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru were on good personal terms, however.

(In New Delhi, Nehru said the slaying was a calamity which hushed all controversies and might "enable us to see things in their proper perspective and arrive at a settlement of many issues between India and Pakistan.")

U. S. Parcels Still Pour Into Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany—(AP)—Open-hearted Americans are still showering Germany with gift parcels.

In 1946, when post-war Germany was destitute, a gift parcel service was begun in the United States. Day after day the total mounted until at the end of last month, West and East Germans had been sent 44,000,000 gift parcels. Officials estimate their combined value at $375,000,000.

Even today, as the German economy continues its upward trend, Americans still send gift packages.

Heart Trouble Perils Hunters

Overexertion Cause Of Many Deaths

Overtaxing the heart is a much greater danger to the average Michigan hunter than either gunfire, heavy traffic or getting lost, the Michigan Department of Health said today.

Overexertion is the number one hazard, according to Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of the Division of Disease Control, Records and Statistics.

Tramping two or three miles through woods or a swamp, or helping to drag a deer puts quite a strain on the fatty heart of the man who usually walks only from his house to his car and from the elevator to his office.

Take it easy and enjoy yourself! the doctor said. You might better never get a bird, a rabbit or a deer than to put yourself in bed for six months or not get home from your hunting trip.

For your health's sake, too, choose a clean eating place. Look for a "sanitation approved" sign. Order those foods which must be freshly prepared.

Be sure the water you drink is safe. The Michigan Department of Health marks safe roadside water supplies. If you are in doubt about the camp supply, you can make sure of your drinking water by adding three drops of laundry bleach for each gallon of water and letting it stand a half hour. Don't drink from streams.

If you are not sure you can get pasteurized milk take along a canned supply.

Wear clothing to suit the weather and the type of hunting you will do. Take along a change so you won't have to hunt or ride in rain-drenched or perspiration-dampened clothing.

Have a good time and get some game, but—more important—get back, under your own power, the doctor said.

Former Iron River Girl Partner In Fleetway Firm

IRON RIVER—A former Iron River you know, Mary Zerbelt Ford, and her plane piloting, are described by Saturday Evening Post in the October 6 issue article, "Adventurers For Hire".

The Post article tells the story of Fleetway, Inc., the busiest air-plane-ferrying company in the world. It was a shoe-string operation five years ago when it was launched by Jack and Mary Zerbelt Ford, a man and wife flying team. Now it takes 50 airmen to fulfill the ferrying contracts which pour into Fleetway's base at Lockheed terminal, Burbank, Calif.

The Post caption beckons the reader thus: "Fleetway fliers, like characters in an adventure comic strip, barnstorm the world. Mixed up in Oriental intrigue one week, involved in a banana revolution the next, these soldiers of fortune ferry the beat-up planes other pilots are afraid to fly. Fleetway Boss Jack Ford and his men will fly almost anything with wings anywhere."

Mrs. Ford is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Zerbelt who resided here a few years ago when Mr. Zerbelt was manager of the Delitt theater. The family resided in the home now the Presbyterian manse, corner of Fourth and Cayuga.

The Post story goes:

The idea for Fleetway was born after Jack met his brunet wife-to-be, Mary Zerbelt. They were married in England during War II. Mary was then flying with Jacqueline Cochran's famed all-girl Powder-Puff Squadron which ferried military aircraft for the British Air Transport Auxiliary.

She had learned to fly while attending UCLA (the University of California at Los Angeles), and became America's youngest woman flying instructor at the age of 20.

Jack had been a part-time teacher of political science at Polytechnic high school in Los Angeles, before he joined the Air Force. He had intended to emulate his father, the late Dr. Willard Stanley Ford, a distinguished educator. But the war gave him a relish for the taste of adventure.

When he and Mary came home from the wars, they had $8,000 saved. They rented a two-by-four office in Glendale, Calif., bought a couple of cheap desks and had cards printed announcing the birth of Fleetway.

Business was hardly profitable at first. Fleetway got by with only five pilots, and when ferrying jobs multiplied, Jack and Mary did a lot of the flying themselves. "We went everywhere," she says. "We had a million dollars' worth of fun."

The responsibilities of motherhood keep Mary Ford grounded most of the time nowadays. She likes to care for Pamela, their five-year-old daughter, who is an oddly distinguished child. Pamela is probably the first baby ever to ride a bomber to England; she made the trip at the age of 18 months, with her mother at the controls.

Jack goes out looking for contracts, being too impatient to wait for business to drop in his lap. The firm will gross a million dollars this year, all handled from a $60-a-month office in Burbank.

LIGHT DIET
ARCADIA, Calif. — (AP) — A small night light bulb looked better than it tasted to 26-month-old Kenneth Gronenthal.

His parents said he pulled the bulb from a socket and popped it into his mouth. It exploded when he bit it.

Kenneth was pronounced O. K. at an emergency hospital where they plucked the fragments from his mouth and throat—but he went on a special diet for a few days.

Jacques Cartier, French discoverer of the St. Lawrence River was a native of the island to St. Malo.

William Donaheys Return To Chicago For Winter Season

GRAND MARAIS — Mr. and Mrs. William Donahey have returned to Chicago after spending the summer months at their log cabin on AuSable Lake at the foot of the sand dunes. The Donaheys have been coming here since 1926, when as a surprise to them the Reid & Murdock Company, by whom Mr. Donahey was employed, built them the Pickle Barrel or Teenie Weenie House, as it is sometimes referred to. The site of the Pickle Barrel was picked by Mr. Stevens and Mr. Hill of the Reid-Murdock Company who had been vacationing here. After inquiring of the Donaheys whether or not they liked that sort of life, they instructed a cooperator to make a huge barrel, which was to be erected at the foot of the sand dunes. The barrel had staves 16 feet high and two inches thick. The living room was 12 feet in diameter and the upstairs bedroom 16 feet in diameter. A connecting pantry with a smaller barrel, serving as a kitchen, was 8 feet in diameter and 8 feet high. This was the first barrel of its kind ever built and it was published in 24 countries and 2400 publications. It was also shown in two movie newsreels.

Teenie Weenies After the barrel was completed, the Donaheys were sent for. As they rounded the dunes for the first time and saw this huge barrel sitting amongst the trees their first reaction was "what an odd place for an advertisement." From a distance it looked to them like a huge cardboard ad. Their astonishment was complete when they came up to the barrel, out trooped all the Teenie Weenies in costume. Previous to their appearance, uniforms had been made and sent by the Reid & Murdock Co. and the school children of Grand Marais, under Superintendent Belnap were trained for the part of the Teenie Weenie Story. After the Donaheys had their first glimpse of their new home the barrel was opened to the public and the stream of sight-seers seemed never-ending. Each person received a gift of a Reid & Murdock product.

After spending twelve summers in the barrel, which was always open to the public, the Donaheys built their own log cabin, very near the original site of the Pickle Barrel. The barrel they gave to Irving Hill of Grand Marais with the hope it would be used as an information center to tourists.

Mr. and Mrs. Donahey continue to come every summer, and the townspeople are proud to have two such distinguished writers among them.

Mr. Donahey was born in a small Ohio village. From the age of four to the time he went to the Cleveland School of Art, he lived in New Philadelphia, Ohio. In 1930 he joined the staff of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Against the judgment of his managing editor, on his own time, and with no extra money involved he began doing a series of illustrations of the Mother Goose rhymes, which were later published by Reilly and Lee, since he had decided that the reason everyone thought young children liked rough and tough "comics" was because they had nothing else. He then wrote his own verses and illustrated them, all in color, these were also published in a book by Reilly and Lee. Joseph Medill Patterson, then of the Chicago Tribune, saw his work and asked him to come to the Tribune to do children's feature. He began bringing out The Teenie Weenies in May, 1914. They were a success from the start. In 1916-17 Beckley Cardy brought out Teenie Weenie Primers. Reilly and Lee published seven titles, and had him do a great deal of illustrating of other people's books. All of the volumes published by them and by McGraw-Hill consist of original stories and pictures; they are not reprints of material from the newspapers. Likes North Country Mary Dickerson Donahey was born in New York City, reared there and in Ohio, and near Cleveland. She always meant to write but had no idea of doing juveniles. She wanted to be another George Eliot. She was a reporter for the old New York Journal but resigned to become a feature writer on the Sunday New York Herald. Later she went to Cleveland to be for some years, the entire staff of the Sunday Plain Dealer. Immediately after being graduated from St. Mary's School, then at 6 and 8 East 46th street, not at Peekskill-on-Hudson, she began selling verses, articles, and short stories to national magazines. The managing editor of the Plain Dealer ordered her to write an original story for children every week, and so sealed her literary fate. Her first book had run serially in the Plain Dealer before her marriage, in 1905, to an artist-author, William Donahey. Gradually she did less in the adult field, although before switching to Child Life and other juvenile magazines she had contributed to Red Book, The American, Good Housekeeping, and a number of magazines such as all the Munsey publications, which are no longer in existence. She has twenty-two books published in all, and one republished. In 1948 Random House published a new edition of The Castle of Grumpy Grouch. It had first been published by Stern of Philadelphia in 1906, been on the market twenty-years, off twenty years, and came out by a new publisher in a new dress on its fortieth birthday. This the author's proudest moment! After doing nine fairy tales, Mrs. Donahey wrote books for older children. She enjoys the log cabin in the northern woods as much as her husband though she substitutes gardening for wood chopping and fishing.

Women who use razor blades in slitting seams and for other sewing tasks may find this a helpful hint: rescue an old, used match folder from the wastebasket, tear off the cardboard flap, and use the thick stub ends and abrasive strip to slip over one edge of the razor blade. Simply insert one edge of the blade between the stubs to make this handy holder for protecting fingertips.

LUDINGTON BUY-LINES by Sue Donimus

I READ that the cost of living is leveling off—all it's leveling off at our house is the bank roll! That's why I'm eager to beaver for the 34th Birthday Celebration at Penny's! If you're looking for a money saver, this is it! Imagine paying only $1 for marvelous knit sleepers for your small fry—sizes 1 to 4, in yellow pink and blue. Nice sleeping for the little ones—don't let this bargain catch you napping! Another dandy is men's p.j.'s of fine broadcloth—just $2.77! Men's gabardine sport shirts in maroon, green or brown—just $2.98. At Penny's birthday party!

HE, My. Ann walks with a decided jerk. She: He sure is! But when I say Ann walks with a low heel, there's nothing personal about it—I mean she has new shoes from Laerman's! I just got the low down on their new shipment of British flaties. Priced at a small $3.45, the shoes are in black suede, either plain or with red reptone trim and also in brown suede with brown reptone. Another darling is the black suede pump with the new French-King Louis-heel. It's low, but cut in and shaped to give it style galore; just $5.95. Handsome spectator pumps with slim spike heels in navy, red, green, brown and black. Some with platform soles, and in calf or reptone, $7.95. Hurry—feet first—to Laerman's!

WOMAN: Is her dress imported? Friend: Don't believe it! Her dressmaker turned it inside out, and now she says it's from the other side!—The French may have style, but the Americans have a word for it, too—and it's Doris Dodson Juniors! These petite dresses featured at the Mata Brown Shoppe are unusual in design. Saw some darlings yesterday: a two piece brown rayon faille with clever brilliant button trim; only $17.95. A short, snug jacket tops a smartly flared skirt in another two piece rayon faille dress. Colors are black, red or peacock blue. Wide fluting trims the short sleeves and hips—only $10.95! Attention! Dress right! From Mata's!

DID you hear about the fellow who said he drove an Eisen-hower car?—He never knows whether it's going to run or not!

—Let's all tell him about Studebaker. The car you can count on! Made with a new high powered engine and all the refinements of a higher priced car—yet Studebaker has invaded the lowest price field! Stop in at Petersen and Jacobson Auto Service and have a look at man's best friend—Studebaker!

SCIENCE is wonderful—when it couldn't open Pullman windows, it air-conditioned the trains! And science has outdone itself on the new General Motors Delco-Heat Conditionair. This amazing heater gives you both automatic heat and winter air-conditioning for your home. It's clean, comfortable and quiet as a whisper. Doesn't cost much to run and it saves loads of work! Why don't you stop in at Moersch and Degman to see this Conditionair. Just the right amount of moisture with even heat will guard family health. Cost is reasonable, too. Put the heat on hubby for a Conditionair for your house... an unconditional success!

THE thing most women dread about their past is its length! But the Fair Store is proud of every 63 years! And celebrating its 63rd Anniversary with a Sale that will set you bubbling over with joy.

A table of ceremonies on the third floor—all reduced one third! A lovely chaise longue that forms a planter will be marked from $1.98 to just $1.32, for instance! You'll find such beautiful Christmas gifts here for a pittance. Salt and pepper shakers of unusual styles, cigarette sets, pixies—all 1/2 off! Be Fair to yourself—let the Fair Store past mean a happier future for you!

ONE reason girls kiss and make up is that the stuff rubs off! Anyway, it's fun to make up when you're using Revlon's new Indelible-Creme Lipstick. Now Revlon is introducing a marvelous new color for fall—the one true red you've spent a lifetime looking for. It's "Love That Red"—a really terrific new color in nail enamel and matching lipstick. The nail enamel is made for much longer wear because it has a base coat built right in. Costs only 60c at Gust. Asp's. Matching lipstick in either new Indelible-Creme or the regular Revlon, $1.10. Just Ask—you know who!

UNHAPPY man: An architect who discovers his wife can make plans too! Believe me, any plans that include the Stephenson Lumber Co. are a success. Whether they be simple plans for some repair or remodeling work, or blue prints for a new home. When you've based your work on quality supplies—dry seasoned lumber—and the friendly advice of experienced lumbermen, then you know your plans can't go wrong. Better plan to visit Stephenson's—it's a good scheme for a man with a plan!

AP Newsfeatures

Just when one gets the impression that there is a dearth of mail giving a hopeful sign to go about home dating... and two things are indicated at once: (a) men are available but (b) little ladies write asking how they are broke.

Let's hope that a girl's parents aren't obliged to keep the boy in bread, butter and sweetmeats every night to get him to call on daughter. After all, a girl does not find sugar plums on a candy tree any more than the boy does. Why, then, should girls do the entertaining?

But it is fun to entertain at home, and providing you do not get the boy in the habit of parking on your sofa, you should be easy on his pocketbook, occasionally, and suggest an evening at home. Here are some answers to questions most frequently asked by puzzled seniors:

1. How shall I suggest we spend the evening at home?

If you have been out with a boy a few times, and he seems broke, or if your family likes to approve a boy before you go out with him, then invite the young man to the house for an evening of record playing, games or dancing. However do not ask him the second time, unless he has made an effort to take you out even for simple entertainment.

2. How can I break the ice when he visits my home for the first time?

Introduce him to your family as soon as he arrives. This doesn't necessarily mean dragging in your prankster brother or giggling sister, although you should be able to do that charmingly. It does mean introducing the young man to Mom and Pop. He should not be invited to your home if the family plans to be out, unless an older brother or sister agrees to stay home.

3. How shall I entertain him?

First of all, do not do anything to embarrass him—and that includes pushing him into a big family dinner party or splashy family celebration the first time he visits your house. After you know the boy, you can decide just how much family he can take. Then you will know how far to go in including him in family parties. Most boys do not like to be in on their own family shindigs, so they will hardly welcome yours.

NOW AT HOME at 204 South Revena in Ann Arbor are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Chapekis who are pictured following their wedding, an early fall ceremony, which took place in Kalamazoo, the bride's home city. Mrs. Chapekis is the former Cleo Vlahos, daughter of Mrs. Nicholas Vlahos. Mr. Chapekis is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Chapekis of 808 Ludington street, Escanaba.

Sunday night supper usually is informal enough so that the poor boy will not choke by being in the right-knife and right-fork spotlight. If you do not invite him for supper, you could serve a light refreshment. But don't try to impress the young gallant with a big meal you've cooked yourself. You can't show a boy your domestic side until you've known him for some time. And then he should learn about it only by absorbing it bit by bit.

4. What time should he go home?
A smart girl will manage to indicate to the young man that it is time to go before Dad comes in and yawns or Mom calls down to ask if daughter is still up.

(Mothers and fathers are like that.) To avoid being embarrassed by the family, put a clock on the living room table immediately after the young man arrives. Set it down on table in full view saying something like "I've got to get to bed by 9:30 (or 10 or whatever) because I must be up early" (for an exam or to do some special chores or for another appropriate reason.) Any nice boy will take the hint. If he tries to detain you, after you've given him warning, say "goodnight" abruptly, if necessary.

5. What about petting at home?
A boy should not get the impression that he is invited to your house for a necking session, which is what will happen if you permit him to get overly romantic. If you want him to be

Ducks Lure Two Into Violating

Chatham Men Pay For Shooting From Auto

Use of an automobile in hunting migratory waterfowl proved costly for two residents of Chatham the past weekend.

Sunday afternoon an auto stopped on the shoulder of the road alongside the pond north and west of the Northwestern Veneer and Plywood plant and someone in the auto fired at some ducks resting on the water.

The license number of the vehicle was taken and reported to authorities.

A check revealed the vehicle was owned by a Chatham resident and investigation by Conservation Officers and Michigan State Police resulted in the arrest of Kenneth Nelson and Bernard Takkinen, both of Chatham.

They were brought to Gladstone and arraigned before Justice of Peace Oliver C. Estenson and each was fined $25 and paid court costs of $7.80.

Authorities point out that the pond in question is within the city limits, making shooting over it illegal. Shooting on a highway also is illegal as well as dangerous.

BRIDGE FOR SALE

SANTA BARBARA, Calif.—(AP)—Wanna buy a bridge? The county supervisors have one up for sale. It's a 1200-foot steel span, built at a cost of $174,922 in 1917, which crosses the Santa Ynez River north of here. It was made useless when the highway it served was rerouted.

The supervisors don't expect anyone to buy it for transportation to another site. They hope someone will be interested in salvaging the steel.

Schoolmen Talk Over Problems

Sessions Held In Gladstone Monday

Problems, particularly regarding transportation and finance, that confront schoolmen today, came in for considerable discussion at a meeting of school superintendents and board members Monday at the Yacht club.

Two sessions were held, one in the afternoon and another in the evening, with dinner being served between.

Emotional characteristics of children was the principal topic up for consideration in the program originally planned, but so interesting did the discussion on transportation and matters of finance become that this phase of the program was put aside. Hagle Quarnstrom, county superintendent of schools reports.

Dorr Stack, John Heitema and George Gilbert, led the discussions.

Approximately 30 persons attended the afternoon session, while about 50 were present for the evening meeting.

Boys Conference Sponsors Wanted

Many Worthy Boys Wish To Attend

Gratifying progress in the entertainment plans for the Older Boys Conference is expressed by Carl Olson, chairman of general arrangements for the event.

Manistique will pay host for this conference, which will be held in Manistique on November 2 and 3 and providing places to stay for the several hundred boys of high school age who will attend, has presented something of a problem. The problem is now very close to solution although Mr. Olson would still like to contact more residents who will aid in providing lodging and certain meals.

Assurance is given that the boys are from good homes and that they are well vouched for.

Mr. Olson is also desirous to stress another point. Those who attend this conference are sponsored by some group or person. As in the past, clubs, church congregations, fraternal orders, business places and individuals are making it possible for some local youth to attend and experience the wholesome inspiration that comes from man to man discussions of common problems.

There are many Manistique high school boys who should go, and would go, if some organization or person would sponsor their attendance, says Mr. Olson. The sponsorships are $2.50 each.

Two Green Bay Packers Address Quarterback Club

"Why we play the game" was the theme enlarged upon by Ed Ecker and Ted Fritsch, two members of the Green Bay Packers team, at an open house meeting held at the high school gymnasium Monday evening under the auspices of the Manistique Quarterbacks.

Playing to win is the ambition of any worthy player, they told those present, adding that it is the giving of one's self, the willingness to abide by training rules, to cooperate and take the bad breaks with the good that makes winning teams.

All of the members of the varsity and reserve squads were present, along with about 60 adult supporters of the Manistique Emeralds. LeRoy Wilson, president of the Manistique Quarterbacks presided.

Coach Ted Corombos, introduced Bob McNamara and Howard Strasler as outstanding players in last Saturday's game with Soo.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Social

Auxiliary Meeting

The VFW auxiliary met Monday evening in the club rooms. Mrs. Donald Dissinger, Mrs. Ivor Wilcox, Mrs. Paul Noe and Mrs. Earl Malloch were hostesses.

During the business meeting plans were discussed for the Pow Wow at Lansing scheduled for this weekend. Also plans were made to sponsor five boys for the older boys conference and they agreed to join with other veteran organizations in observing Armistice Day.

A social hour of cards followed with prizes given to Mrs. Earl Malloch in bunco and Mrs. Jules Rivard in canasta. Mrs. Archie Carpenter was given the special award.

The next regular meeting will be a pot luck membership dinner.

City Council Buys New Furnace For Water Plant

Purchase of a furnace for heating purposes at the city water plant was the chief item of business transacted at Monday evening's meeting of the Manistique city council. The offer of the Hohlak Plumbing & Heating Company for a Timken Silent Automatic furnace was accepted. The bid for the furnace and its installation was $735. Three bids were submitted.

A report from the social welfare department stated that Manistique's portion of the welfare bill for the current month was $1,288.

A petition by Carl Ranta that he be given license to permit dancing at his place of business on Deer street was denied. The vote by the council was unanimous.

Matters pertaining to perpetual care in sections A and B at Fairview cemetery were discussed at length, but no definite action was taken.

The council agreed to place at disposal of the Manistique Women's Club, certain items of equipment for use during the Christmas holiday season.

George W. Francis of the Francis Engineering Company of Saginaw, had been scheduled to appear before the council and discuss further plans proposed for city water system. He had wired Saturday, however, that he would not be able to attend and the matter was deferred to some other meeting in the near future.

C Of C Tourist Bureau Still An Aid To Travelers

The tourist season is over, but tourists continue to ply the highways and to call at the Manistique tourist information bureau and inquire about places to stop, places to see, directions and the gamut of questions tourists always ask.

Fred D. Heltman, who took over the secretarial duties of the Chamber of Commerce Sept. 17, reports that 57 out of town people have registered at the offices in the Triangle Square and this represents but a fraction of the number of callers. About one out of every four of these visitors inquire about the way to the Big Spring, about 10 per cent want road information, others want ferry schedules for the passage over the Straits. The registrants, Heltman states, represent about one-third of the number of tourists who stop at the bureau.

Heltman points out that the service of the information bureau has a far reaching effect on local business. People heading for the Big Spring are advised to stop along the way and see Indian Lake State Park. Restaurants, hotels, tourist courts and motels are directly benefited by those who tarry, and stores in general as well as gas stations, garages are beneficiaries also of this service expedited by the tourist bureau.

Religious Service Each Sunday At Hiawatha Hall

Here's a grid oddity . . . Only one host football team in the Upper Peninsula area was defeated in last Saturday's games . . . That was the Florence, Wis., eleven which lost to Bark River . . . Host teams posting Saturday wins were Iron Mountain, Niagara, Marinette, St. Joe, Gladstone, Newberry . . . Incidentally, the Newberry-Munising game was a "booster game" and not a homecoming affair as our story Monday listed it.

George Endres, new Stephenson high school football coach, is a former Ohio State athletic luminary . . . He played four years of frosh and varsity football for the Buckeyes and also held down positions on the basketball, base ball and track squads . . . Endres graduated in 1951 . . . Rounding out Stephenson's new coaching staff is Walter Schousen, cage mentor and assistant to Endres on the gridiron . . . Schousen graduated last June from Miami University in Oxford, Ohio . . . He played varsity basketball for Miami and in his senior year coached the frosh quintet.

Menominee's venture into Wisconsin State Football league play has not proved very successful . . . The Menominee-Marquette Hornets Sunday dropped their sixth game in seven starts in conference competition . . . The armed services and injuries have cut deep into what started out to be a promising M-M football club.

Officials get a break now during the Western Conference football season . . . Their names are not announced over the public address system on the theory that if the fans don't know who to ride they won't do so much hollering . . . The information is made public to the press box, however, so the newsmen at least will know who called the penalties.

Five Teams Still Unbeaten In U. P. Football Circles

Upper Peninsula football's all-conquering quintet, Menominee, Newberry, Stambaugh, Stephenson and Powers, escaped unscathed again last weekend.

For the first time since the season opened there was no pruning of the list of undefeated teams in U. P. competition. All five were riding unblemished streaks from the previous week.

Stephenson's win came over a Wisconsin school, Pembine, by a 19-0 score and Powers swept over Stephenson's Bee squad, 45-0.

But the big three—Menominee, Stambaugh and Newberry—got by bonafide opponents. And only one of the three had an easy time of it.

Championships Decided

Newberry waded through Munising by a 39-0 score to capture its third straight Great Lakes Conference crown and extend its winning streak to 19.

Menominee played it the familiar way, coming from behind to score three touchdowns in the final quarter to best Ironwood 20-6.

Stambaugh fought off a stubborn Kingsford squad to win 13-6. The victory over the Flyers also gave Stambaugh the Menominee Range conference crown.

Gladstone provides the hurdle for the Stephenson Eagles this weekend in a game at Marquette.

The winners were Fred Benner, Southern Methodist's one-man aerial offense who passed for four touchdowns and 336 yards against Notre Dame, and Bobby Dillon of Texas, who made the key defensive play in the bitter Texas-Oklahoma battle.

As might be expected, Benner drew most of the praise in ballots sent in by sportswriters and broadcasters, but Dillon's heads up defensive play also was generously praised.

Greatest Day

Although he's been filling the southwest air with footballs for several seasons, Benner's enjoyed his greatest day against the amazed Irish last Saturday—and with a nationwide television audience watching the show. Unhurried and unruffled, Benner completed 22 of 42 passes against a team that had prepared for a passing attack but could do nothing to stop it.

Dillon's performance was just as outstanding defensively as he provided the winning points in Texas' 9-7 win over Oklahoma. Safetyman Dillon came up fast to tackle Sooner halfback Frank Silva in the end zone for a safety as Silva attempted to run out a wild backward pass from quarterback Eddie Crowder.

Dillon also returned two punts 86 yards, intercepted a pass and ran it back 16 yards and made several important tackles in the safety position.

Texas Aces Are Named Backs Of The Week By AP

NEW YORK—(AP)—A pair of aces from down Texas way took all the chips today as the best backs of the week in the Associated Press poll.

The winners were Fred Benner, Southern Methodist's one-man aerial offense who passed for four touchdowns and 336 yards against Notre Dame, and Bobby Dillon of Texas, who made the key defensive play in the bitter Texas-Oklahoma battle.

Two Players Back, One Is Lost By Wolverines

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—The return of two players to the active list was overshadowed today by the loss of Frank Howell, Michigan's regular right halfback.

The loss of Howell came at a time when Coach Bennie Oosterbaan was gearing his squad in hopes of a second Western conference victory Saturday against Iowa.

X-rays taken yesterday indicated that Howell had a slight fracture of a small ankle bone in addition to the sprain that had sidelined him since early in the Stanford game Oct. 6.

Oosterbaan said Howell might possibly be out for the rest of the season.

On the brighter side was the return to duty of Sophomore Tackle Jim Balog and Junior Linebacker Laurie LeClaire, who missed the Indiana game due to injuries.

Balog, who was improving fast in his first year of college ball, missed the Indiana game Saturday because of a leg infection. However, he is reported recovered and is expected to bolster the defense against Iowa.

Another defensive assist is expected from LeClaire, who skipped the Hoosier contest with a pulled leg muscle. He, too, is reported ready to go and should help in the linebacking department.

With the switch of 210-pound Ted Topor to quarterback two weeks ago, LeClaire took over Topor's linebacking post. However, when he was sidelined, the assignment was given Gene Knutson.

With limited experience and lack of know-how, Knutson was a weak link. Now LeClaire is expected some improvement is expected. And Knutson can work in gradually as a possible replacement.

Oosterbaan gave his squad a stiff workout yesterday, experimentally using Don Oldham and Bob Hurley to assist Wes Bradford, who supplanted Howell as right halfback.

Work On Passing

Skipping contact work entirely, the Michigan coach concentrated on sharpening timing and precision in the Michigan offense.

Absent for the first time this season was Tom Johnson, the standout tackle from Muskegon Heights. Johnson is nursing a cold but it is not expected to interfere with his trip to Iowa.

Particular attention was given the Wolverine pass attack, which netted a fat 197 yards against Indiana.

In view of running offense that netted an average of only 92 yards per game to date, the Michigan coach may be preparing to rely heavily on passes for the rest of the season.

It was in the air that Michigan got the jump on Indiana and was able to rack up its first win of the season.

Columbia Only Unscored Upon Football Team

NEW YORK—(AP)—Hard to believe though it is—especially when you take into consideration their pre-season prospects—Lou Little's Columbia Lions are the only major team in the country yet to be scored on.

No one, least of all Little, has any hopes of this state of things continuing past this Saturday when the Lions must face Penn. Little, in fact, will be very happy if his youngsters can beat the Quakers.

Columbia, which has permitted Yale and Harvard, its two shut-out victims, to complete just 15 passes in 45 tries, will get a big break if Bones Adams, Penn.'s top pitcher, does not play—and the chances of him seeing action are slim, indeed.

Eye Variatits

If he doesn't get in, the Lions will be able to concentrate their efforts on stopping Joe Variatits, a handy bloke with a football tucked in his arm.

Mitch Price, who does most of Columbia's carrying, probably will have to take to the air because Penn has a big, rough defensive line that can ston a guy trying to bust through. But that doesn't worry Little much, because he already has completed nine of 17 passes.

into hospital for observation. McMillin was operated on last week amid rumors his active coaching days were over.

Millner New NFL Eagles Head Coach

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Wayne Millner, who in 1935 won gridiron glory for catching a pass from William Shakespeare—the football player, of course—is the Philadelphia Eagles' new head coach.

Millner became the third head coach of the Eagles in less than a year when club president James Clark announced yesterday that Alvin (Bo) McMillin was retiring for at least the rest of the season because of ill health.

McMillin, father of five children, became coach of the National Football league team last winter when Clark fired Earle (Greasy) Neale in a surprise move. The 56-year-old native of Prairie Hill, Tex., then signed Millner as one of his assistants.

But McMillin became ill at the start of this season. Although he went to Chicago for the team's opener, he was forced to sit out the game as a spectator because of an intestinal disorder. The ailment persisting, team physician Dr. Thomas Dowd ordered Bo

Munising Game Saturday Night To Be Homecoming For St. Joe

Homecoming will be celebrated for the first time in years, when the St. Joe Trojans entertain the Munising Mustangs here Saturday night.

The Homecoming program, sponsored by the St. Joe seniors, will open with a snakedance Friday night and a pep bonfire back of the school. Queen of the Homecoming, Virginia Collins, will be crowned at halftime ceremonies by Left Halfback Pete Kutches, captain of the St. Joe football team.

Concluding the program will be a Homecoming dance after the game at the St. Joseph parish hall.

Queen's Court

Miss Collins, elected queen by the St. Joe gridders, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Collins. She will have as her court Gerry Bulchak and Jean Palmateer.

The Homecoming event involves one of the most attractive grid games on the St. Joe schedule.

The Trojans are in the midst of one of their best seasons in recent years and are hoping to add the Munising scalp to the four already lifted on the gridiron this season.

Coach Tom St. Germain's Trojans dropped their first two games to Gladstone and St. Norbert before racking up four straight wins over Bark River, Lourdes of Marinette, Norway and Crystal Falls.

Coach Stan Whitman's Mustangs have won three and lost four. Victories came over Soo 7-0, Marquette 26-0, and Negaunee 14-6. The defeats were suffered to Gladstone 19-7, Stephenson 27-6, Manistique 8-0, and Newberry 39-0.

Book Niagara Game

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected for the Saturday night clash at Memorial field. Kickoff will be at 8.

Coach St. Germain announced this week that the Trojans have booked Niagara, Wis., for the final game of the season to be played here Friday night, Oct. 26 at 9 p. m. The game was scheduled to fill in for the cancelled Negaunee St. Paul contest.

Allie Reynolds Doesn't Expect Elbow Operation

NEW YORK—(AP)—If Allie Reynolds has his way, his good—albeit rattling—right elbow will continue sounding like a pair of castanets next season.

The chief, first pitcher in American league history to hurl two no-hit games in one season, has decided not to have his elbow operated on for removal of some loose bone chips.

For the past months, he has been planning the surgery.

"I was pitching too well down the stretch this past season to take a chance on an operation now," he said yesterday, in revealing his plans to the New York Yankees.

"Naturally Dr. (George) Bennett cannot guarantee the result of an operation. As a matter of fact, he says the elbow is much improved over what it was last spring."

Reynolds said he plans to give it a full test in an exhibition game this Sunday, and if things go as he expects them to, he will skip the operation.

"If the arm swells up on me after the game Sunday," said Reynolds, "some doctor will hear from me. But I don't think it will."

Reynolds, who is 33 years old, was bothered by the chips all last season, although he finished with a 17-8 record and won one world series game against the New York Giants.

Seer Forecasts Badger Victory

CHICAGO—(AP)—Peeking into a crystal ball knocked slightly lopsided last weekend by Southern Methodist, Michigan and Miami of Florida, here we go again:

Wisconsin 14, Purdue 7—The law of averages has to give those brisk Badgers a Big Ten win. With a home field advantage, the Boiler-makers could surprise. If Dale Samuels can out-call Wisconsin's John Coatta, Purdue could sneak off with the Big Ten title with only three conference games left, against Northwestern, Minnesota and Indiana.

Illinois 20, Washington 18—The unbeaten Illini encounter a high-geared Huskies' team that has rolled up 159 points in four games. It should be a great running duel between Johnny Karras and Don Stevens of the Illini against Dick Sprague, Bill Earley and Hugh McElhenry of Washington. In their own one tough start, the Huskies lost to Southern California, 20-13.

Michigan 21, Iowa 13—Something happened to those Wolverines when they heard the Big Ten bell against Indiana. Maybe because their fullback-spinner has jelled. Michigan always has had Iowa's grid number, losing only twice in 16 meetings. It's Michigan's first visit to Iowa in 14 seasons.

Ohio State 20, Indiana 18—If Indiana has a Sunday punch, it hasn't shown yet. The Buckeyes learned against Wisconsin the Big Ten is as tough as always. They'll be ready for the Hoosiers.

Northwestern 21, Navy 20—The Middles still have Bob Zastrow, quarterback from Algoma, Wis., and will be the biggest foe yet faced by the undefeated Wildcats. Northwestern will need all its guns in this one.

Notre Dame 34, Pittsburgh 7—Without injured Bobby Bestwick,

We will clean it beautifully—and here is the good news. At the same time we will re-process it with "Cravenette" water repellents. College Cage Fix Scandal Spread Seen

NEW YORK — (AP)—The college basketball scandal is expected to spread to more schools and players according to Assistant District Attorney Vincent O'Connor.

O'Connor made this assertion yesterday following the arrest of Joseph Benintende, 42, alleged king pin of a basketball "fix" ring. O'Connor, however, gave no indication as to how many colleges or players might be involved, or when details would be made public.

The scandal so far has involved 31 players from six teams, Bradley, Toledo, CCNY, Manhattan, Long Island University and New York University.

O'Connor indicated that Benintende was "singing" on colleges involved but not mentioned so far in the scandal.

Benintende was arrested Monday night at LaGuardia Airport as he stepped off a plane from Boston. He was indicted Aug. 17 on a bribery charge in connection with an alleged fix attempt of the 1950 NCAA championship game between CCNY and Bradley.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said Benintende was investigated in the slaying of Charles Binaggio, Kansas City Democratic leader and that he was the big shot of a basketball fix ring that could put up $50,000 in bets on a single game.

Coach Explains High Scoring Football Games

EVANSTON, Ill.—(AP)—Coach Bob Voigts of unbeaten Northwestern has an explanation for the free-scoring contests popping up everywhere on the collegiate football front. It's this:

The two-platoon system, coupled with military inroads on personnel, has prompted many coaches to break in their rookies on defense (where they have less to learn) and use their old hands on offense.

So veteran players are scoring and novices can't stop 'em.

As far as his own surprising, if comparatively green Wildcats are concerned, Voigts has tried to keep seasoned performers at key defensive jobs.

Only 35 Points

The result is that Northwestern Saturday takes against Navy at Dwyer stadium a record of yielding only 35 points in three straight wins over Colorado, Army and Minnesota.

Northwestern's freshman-sophomore studied team was accorded little if any chance to cut a figure in the Big Ten this season. But Voigts did a fine job of blending 35 freshmen and 32 sophomores into a squad that lost 18 lettersman by graduation.

"I think most coaches feel that if they have to use green kids in a game, they prefer to put them on defense where they have comparatively fewer things to learn than on offense."

Using this system, the Wildcat offensive has out-rushed opponents 725 yards to 351. But the offensive grooming of newcomers has had one drawback. The Wildcats have been penalized, mainly for offside and backs in motion, a total of 167 yards against 98 for opponents.

Walter Johnson pitched 20 or more victories during 12 American League seasons.

Pass Record Set In SMU Win Over Notre Dame Irish

NEW YORK — (AP)—Southern Methodist's victory over Notre Dame last Saturday resulted in more than miseries for the Irish—it also caused statisticians to scurry for their record books to find out if more passes ever were thrown in a single game. There weren't.

Figures released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau revealed that two all-time records were set. It was the first time that two major teams have tossed 40 or more passes against each other, and the two-team total of 89 tosses set a new mark for passing in one game.

The Mustangs flipped 45 times, and the Irish came right back with 44 of their own while winding up on the short end of a 27-20 count.

Loyola Record-Bound

Southern Methodist's total of 45 was the third highest in history eclipsed only Loyola of Los Angeles' 50 and S.M.U.'s 47 both last year. Loyola, incidentally, still is firing at a reckless rate and probably will set an all-time record when the final figures are in.

Loyola has been throwing an average of 41.5 passes per game. The record for one season is 31 set by Arkansas in 1937. The Loyolans have ignored the ground to the extent that they have averaged only 59.5 rushing yards a game. It hasn't done them much good, though. They have yet to win a game.

Meanwhile, Tulsa and College of Pacific took over the total offense and rushing offense leadership, respectively. Already the leading scorers of the country, Tulsa piled up 555 yards in whipping Houston last week to shove their yardage average up to 474.7 per game, and skyrocketed from seventh place to the top.

Rushing Leader

College of Pacific looks at things in a little different light than Loyola. The Tigers have piled up 1,517 yards along the ground against only 171 yards overhead. The rushing averages 379.3 yards per game.

Tulsa also is at the top of the class in the scoring department. With 139 points in three games for an average of 46.3 per game, Maryland is second with an average of 42.5 compiled on 130 points in three games.
